Innovations in O&P Textile products is an overview of the history and development of textiles used in the O&P market. I will cover product development and manufacture, material and design changes over the years. Product use, fit, measurement, ordering guidelines as well as some practical tips for your practice.

Compression hosiery continues to be a bright spot and area of strong growth within the medical community. Many O&P facilities around the country have made compression hosiery a focus of their businesses and in turn have built major referral sources and new customers as a result of it.

THERAFIRM's training course is designed to provide the fitter of medical compression stockings with a broad overview of medical knowledge to safely measure compression, fit and select the appropriate product for patients with venous insufficiency, including venous ulceration. This course will have a specific focus on compression hosiery and wound care and what items THERAFIRM offers that fit that market place and provide additional revenue streams via cash or reimbursement. The seminar covers the following topics: Circulatory Anatomy and Physiology, Venous Disorders, THERAFIRM Product Overview, Measuring and Fitting, and Growing Your Business with Compression Hosiery. This course is designed for all levels of compression experience.
